War Made Upon Ducks

CROSSFIELD — Ducks that are becoming a nuisance on the farmers' swaths are meeting with stiff opposition in the nature of volunteer hunters who camouflage themselves in the swaths and wait on the ducks. Hundreds of ducks are feasting and ravaging crops to the dismay of farmers who feel they have had enough to contend with without the ducks. Walter Wuson, Bud Shantz, Jack Ryan, Const. Mansell and Glen Kleine have each bagged a few.

United Church Manse Given Face Lifting

CROSSFIELD — Mr. Stralo, Mr. Oneil and the formers' brother, who is visiting from the East, are to be thanked for shingling the United Church manse porch. Mr. Sam Fleming has spent day after day doing countless odd jobs around the manse and has finished the inside of the porch with ten test. All this work has been gratis and the W.A. feel very indebted as the work has been done willingly and well. The W.A. ladies have spent hours redecorating the inside and with the help of Mr. Oneil and Mr. Bailey, the two front rooms have been laid with an attractive design in inlaid linoleum. It is hoped that work will be complete by the end of this week when Rev. Dovey, his wife and two children are expected. The first service to be on September 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the United Church. The executive hope that a large congregation will be on hand to welcome the new minister from Quebec.

Mother and Daughter Hurt in Swather

KEOMA — Mrs. Irene Percival and her daughter, Jessie, visiting her from Edmonton, received painful injuries to their hands last week while they were attempting to keep the heavy rye crop from bunching on the swather on the farm of Mr. Percival. Their hands got caught in a v-belt. No bones were broken, but bruises and cuts resulted.

The Keoma and Kathryn friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wileman turned out with a "bang" to chivaree them last Saturday evening. Games were played and a lunch was served by some of the visiting ladies, while others were being mischievous.

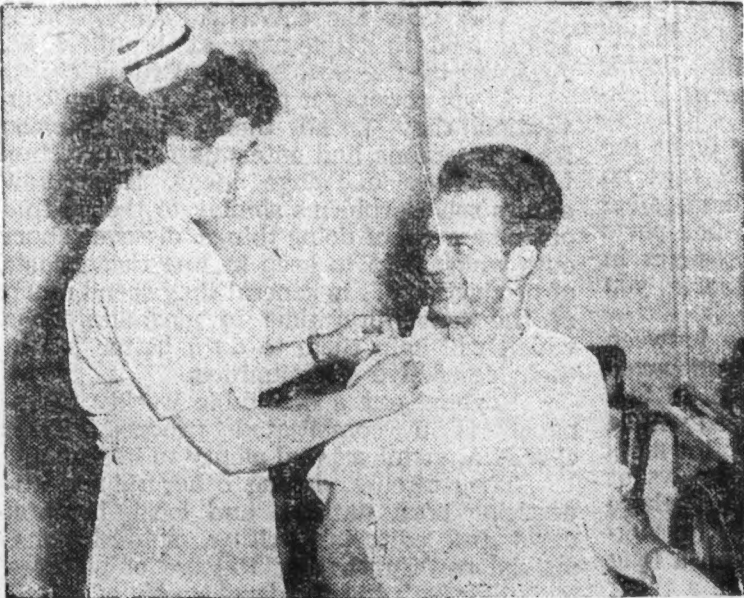

Mrs. L. Eluick and family from Cedar, B.C. have been visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Holdsworth.

On August 18, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lester and family, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Wade and family left for Banff for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Melonoski and Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. I. Thompson were Sunday visitors at Hussar August 17.

Mrs. F. McKenzie from Lyalta held a Tupper-Ware demonstration at the home of Mrs. Edna Geler August 19. Games were played and the prizes were won by Mrs. L. Holdsworth, Mrs. G. Dingwall and Mrs. R. Boyack. Mrs. L. Reumiller won the door prize. A nice lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Srayko motored from Cessford to Keoma August 21. They are visiting at the home of D. Dingwall. Mrs. Srayko is a sister of Mrs. Dingwall.

GEORGE MEDAL WINNER IN MONTREAL HOSPITAL—Cpl. S. L. Sinnott, of Saint John, N.B., who has just been awarded the George Medal for courageous action beyond the call of duty in Korea, is recovering from his injuries in Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital in Montreal. Late last week Sinnott was helped to his feet for the first time since receiving severe spinal injuries in Korea and commented, "It's sure good to stand on your own two feet," to Nurse M. Fregeau, seen in attendance.—National Defence Photo.

CROSSFIELD NEWS BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Walroth are the surprised and proud parents of twin boys, born September 1. The babies were taken to hospital and Mrs. Walroth is at home. Mrs. Walroth is a sister to Mr. A. Bennie, whose family were blessed with twin girls the previous week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charney are calling their new daughter, Barbara Lynne.

There will be a social hour after church on Sunday in the United Church, in order to meet the new minister and his wife and family. Service will be at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. and Mrs. T. M. Maier, all of Calgary, left by motor for a month's vacation in California. Both couples are former Crossfield residents.

School is scheduled to start on September 15, unless further outbreaks of polio warrants a sudden change.

A very slight frost was felt on Sunday night, nipping beans and corn slightly.

Mrs. Frank Laut, polio patient, has had several bad days, but generally speaking, things are looking brighter for her, as she is able to move her limbs a little better every day. Mrs. Sylvia Hanson, friend of the family, has extended her visit from the States to help to care for her friend, which proves the old adage, "A friend in need, is a friend indeed."

Mrs. Charney has returned home with her new baby daughter.

Mr. Alf Bailey received surgery on Friday last in the Holy Cross Hospital, being a patient of Dr. Morgan. Mr. Bailey is reported doing as well as can be expected after a major operation.

It Happened On The Farm

"Accidents can easily happen, and can easily be prevented. Tractors are dangerous if not handled right. This accident happened by careless driving.

Mr. Jones was moving a tiller from his place to his friend's. They were going to burn a field. Time is very important in the fall with the threat of winter coming on.

Mr. Jones didn't have far to go, but he was travelling as fast as he could. The tractor had a top speed of 18 miles per hour. A tiller is not made for high speeds and this one was no exception. One of the wheels came off the tiller, thus dragging the tractor to a dangerous angle. Mr. Jones tried to drag the tiller back to its four wheels, but he only turned it further over. Then the tractor turned over, crushing him underneath. Later he was found dead. Another life lost due to carelessness!

This accident could have been prevented had Mr. Jones checked over his tiller, knowing he was going to travel fast. If he had stopped his tractor when he first started to tip over, he wouldn't have lost his machine or his life.

The casualty list for farm deaths mounts every day. Your life is more important than time. If Mr. Jones or many other farmers had not been in too much of a hurry, they would not have lost their lives."

The above is an essay written by Russel Bills, a Crossfield student in Grade 6, which won the award in the Calgary School Division No. 41, Grades 5 and 6 group. His teacher was Miss Wallace and Divisional Superintendent G. L. Wilson.

He was awarded a plaque for the school room and a Safety Badge.

Russel is the second Crossfield boy to win a Farm Safety Essay Contest.

An informative question period followed and the usual lunch and chat period concluded the evening.

The first snow is now being awaited by some of us.

An Able Minister

Hon. Gordon E. Taylor is one of the newest members of Premier Manning's Cabinet but already he is making his mark. The serious, but valid, criticism of the Government's highway building program in the recent Provincial election campaign may have had something to do with the improvement. Nevertheless, we believe Mr. Taylor can take certain credit as Minister of Highways.

The trouble with so much of what the Social Credit Government does is that no effort is made to tell the people what's going on. Provincial Governments in other parts of Canada publish advertising messages in the weekly and daily press. In Alberta, you learn these things by chance.

A signal man on the highway between Strome and Daysland told us that all paved roads will be increased in width to 36 feet and all new roads to be hard surfaced will be not less than 44 feet. This is no doubt news to most of our readers, and good news at that. It will make driving easier, there should be less fatal accidents, and the bugbear of that old Model A holding up a long line of traffic at 30 m.p.h. should be a thing of the past.

It seems Mr. Taylor is doing a good job. He should take the people into his confidence and tell them what he's doing and what he's planning.

Futility Of Death Sentence

Mr. and Mrs. Kaspar Gorczak are both dead. In a moment of blind emotional fury the husband plunged a knife into the back of his estranged wife.

Kaspar may not have been quite sane. It is certain he was not deterred from his crime by the knowledge that he would face the death sentence for murder. Fear of the gallows did not stop him from killing his wife, who, to paraphrase the poet he might have said he loved too well. Too well, that is, to stand to see her live a life separate from his.

Kaspar, a new Canadian, has paid with his life to fulfill the demands of an old, outworn, outmoded Canadian law. If he had killed his wife in Michigan or one of several other states and countries in the world that have banished capital punishment he would still be alive to do a useful work behind prison bars. Killing him didn't stop him from killing his wife. Wouldn't it have been better to let him live and work the rest of his natural life, even though his life-long memories had been crowded with remorse for his dastard deed done in a rash moment of uncontrolled passion?

How long will it take Canada to banish the death penalty?

Swimming the Channel

Three swimmers—one a buxom English factory girl—recently successfully swam the English channel on the same day and demonstrated that the feat is not what it was once cracked up to be. In addition to the English factory girl, a British real estate agent and an Egyptian mechanic managed to make the crossing without mishap.

It was only a short time ago that a young American girl received national and international publicity in her unsuccessful attempt. The young American swimmer made elaborate plans, which brought elaborate publicity, to conquer the Channel the next year. This attempt also failed.

Perhaps spurred by all this publicity, at least half a dozen swimmers headed for the Channel and many of them successfully made the crossing last year. The feat has become so common that a successful crossing no longer makes the front pages of U.S. newspapers. This fact makes earlier, overpublicized attempts, appear to have been much ado about nothing.

Those Conventions

Every year members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association representing weeklies located in communities from Vancouver Island to Newfoundland and from the Yukon to Southern Ontario gather in convention. At these conferences the newspaper men and women discuss mutual problems and ways and means of improving their weeklies that they may better serve their respective communities.

This year the C.W.N.A. convention is being held in September at beautiful St. Andrews by the Sea, in New Brunswick.

When newspaper people gather at a convention they spend their time between formal sessions and entertainment in "shop talk." They exchange ideas, learn how others solve problems similar to theirs, find out new ways of doing things, discover short cuts which help to keep in line rising costs of production . . . in general they spend much of the convention time in gleaming ideas which will help them to do a better job in their respective communities.

Turning out a creditable weekly newspaper is a complicated process. Thus C.W.N.A. members find plenty to talk about.

They discuss, among other things, advertising both national and local, layouts, news and editorial writing, subscriptions, district news gathering, the use of pictures and other features, the development of classifieds, training of apprentices, care of typesetting and printing machinery, and, well, the list could go on.

Weekly newspaper men at convention time welcome representatives of the railways, advertising agencies, nation-wide companies, supply and machinery houses, federal and provincial governments and so forth. Over the years these people have proved themselves to be good friends of C.W.N.A. and of the more than 500 newspapers which make up its membership.

At such conventions as that at St. Andrews by the Sea at least one speaker is bound to refer to the good job being done by the weeklies in serving the "grass roots" people of Canada, the people of the smaller communities. That always causes weekly newspaper people to chuckle for they know that the people who live on the farms and in the small towns are just as up-to-date in their thinking and ways of doing things as their city cousins.

Yet there is an element of truth in that "grass roots" expression too, for rural people do seem to be more sane, more balanced, more conscientious and certainly more neighborly than many who live in the big cities of Canada.

Gradually through the years out of C.W.N.A. gatherings have evolved weekly newspapers vastly better than those of even a few decades ago, newspapers of which the communities they serve may well be proud. That there is still room for improvement in the average weekly, no one knows better than the men and women who are striving week in and week out to improve the papers they are producing. That's why the C.W.N.A. holds conventions.

Elk Island National Park

(FROM THE CALGARY ALBERTAN)

To us in Calgary, Banff comes first to mind when someone mentions "Canada's national parks". We give Jasper a high second place, and don't hesitate long on the third, Waterton. But beyond that, we're usually stumped.

If we in the south were asked to name the second most popular national park in all Canada, we certainly would overlook Elk Island, a lovely recreational area near Edmonton's eastern outskirts. Yet the fact is that Elk Island National Park rated higher in public patronage last year than Jasper—50 per cent higher. Far in the lead, of course, was Banff.

Note and Comment

It would now appear that the threat of damage from 15B stem rust has almost disappeared. Manitoba and Saskatchewan, where the threat occurred, report that the grain is so well advanced that damage will be slight.

THE COUCHICING CONFERENCE

By L. W. NEWCOMBE,

This conference, sponsored jointly by the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs, and the C.B.C. held last month at Lake Couchiching, Ont., brought some excellent broadcasts to Canadians.

Canadians need to take an objective view of "the struggle for power in the world today," and Canada's policy in relation to it, and these addresses by world leaders were an education. Among the speakers, were: Hanson Baldwin, Military Editor of the New York Times; H. L. Keenleyside of the United Nations; Strongfellow Barr, Pres. of The Foundation for World Government, N.Y.; Douglas Abbott, Edgar McInnes, E. A. Forsey and many others.

It was surprising to hear such strong criticism from the U.S. speakers, (especially Mr. Barr) of their own government's policy, and of the frenzy of fear they have generated over there both of the 40,000 communists within, and of the Russians without their country. This negative policy of defence, based on the psychology of fear is unbecoming a great nation; it would be better if this policy of military defence was supplemented by a positive lifting and constructive program of destroying the breeding grounds of communism. We should also try to understand Russia's underlying fears, intense suspicion and strange ignorance of the West which causes her to match our armaments with her own.

Mr. Keenleyside felt strongly that Canada, and the west, should greatly increase their help to underprivileged "have not" peoples.

"Communism is the bitter fruit of social injustice, and there is only one intelligent way to combat it, and that is to prevent it by doing away with its causes which are the miseries of the people, social injustice, economic insecurity and exploitation of man." Whilst military defence should not be neglected, the conclusion is unmistakable that the leaders of this country are coming to the view we must use more and more of our wealth to assist these people.

My own opinion would be that a way must be found in the Middle East and elsewhere, to help these troubled people to remove those landlord classes who own immense estates, and the peasants on them (some holdings are as big as Switzerland) and who retain 85 per cent of the earnings for themselves. To feed these people who work the land, but helps the landlord and leaves the basic inequality unsolved.

It is here that communism makes its strongest appeal, and unless the new governments of Egypt and Iran (and the same applies to Italy) will approach this problem in this manner, the countries will remain the breeding grounds for communism. Mr. Keenleyside said one-half of the people of earth are illiterate, hungry, ill and homeless, but they have learned that this is not at all necessary any more. They will not be put off from their desires for very long. If we in the West fail them, then they will of course turn elsewhere.

Morning Glory

Of all the wordy things I like,
The dearest thing is rain.
It steals up with a hush at night,
To soothe earth's day-burned, parching lips,
And then steals off again.

I wake from sleep, and all is hushed and still;
The air is keen, and scarce a sound is heard—
Then, as the sun peeps o'er the distant hill,
Faint and far I hear the twit-a-twit
Of a dew-drenched woodland bird.

And then my heart with such great pleasure fills—
As passing through the pasture's greener green,
The wind sets ripples in rhythm to those trills;
And in the west, a rainbow crowns the finest morn
That ever mortal eye has seen . . .

Voice of the People

LOOKS TOUGH, GIRLS

Girls, girls, girls! Why keep wondering why there is a shortage of eligible men when there are three simple reasons for this? The first two are World Wars I and II. Our generation was caught between them. The third reason is even sadder: our boys are kept overseas so long that those Korean, German, and English women just naturally begin to look real good to them. Sorry, girls, but there's just got to be a man shortage today.

It is becoming apparent that Communism is a calculated long range program to drain the resources of the rest of the world to set the stage for a Chinese conquest of the wheat fields and farmlands of Europe to feed their hungry millions.

ON UNCLE SAM'S CUFF

Our newspaper office was visited the other day by a group of French newspapermen touring the United States as guests of the Mutual Security Administration and consequently, as guests of the taxpayers. They were a delightful group and I hope they had a pleasant time, since, as a taxpayer, I was paying for their free ride. If you'll excuse me now, I'll get back to work. The Government needs more money, maybe to get those lucky Frenchmen back to France.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Wrong Line

Amy was one of the most popular girls in town, and when she married, the church was crowded. After the ceremony, friends rushed to kiss the bride. After about half an hour the breathless girl looking down at one little man, she said, "I don't know you. Why are you kissing me?"

The little man scratched his head.

"I dunno, lady. When I joined this line outside I understood it was for cigarettes!"

His Wife

She—You say you love me, but would you be willing to die for me?

He—Well, er, no. You see, mine is what they call an undying type of love.

Times Have Changed

"When I was a young fellow," grandpa related, "my ambition was to have a gig and a gal."

"Well," said his son, "when I was a young man, I wanted a flivver and a flapper."

"Hey, pop," said the grandson, "how about me having a plane and a jane?"

Still Room For Dobbin On Modern-Day Farm

EDMONTON—Despite the tendency to mechanize farm operation, old Dobbin still takes his place as the farmer's best friend.

An official of the horse promotion branch of the agriculture department says that at least one, good, well-broken team is needed on every farm. Horses can still do jobs that tractors cannot, he said.

Farmers are too busy now to break and train their own horses, so good teams now bring their money's worth.

However, the horse promotion branch reported a gradual increase in the number of unmarketable horses following reduced outlets for sale of horses for slaughter as meat for human consumption. Such animals are still in fairly strong demand for processing as dog and animal food.

Horse promotion is proving successful in a steady, if not marked, manner as the breeding of light and thoroughbred horses regains favor in expanding Alberta.

Red Cross Conference Ends; Delegates Return Home

TORONTO—Some strange headgear will be seen on streets all over the world when delegates to the 18th International Red Cross Conference being held in Toronto return to their homes. Each of the delegates was presented with a tengallon hat, and Ambassador Andre Francois-Poncet of France, head of the standing Commission, received an Indian headdress at a real Western horse show and rodeo arranged for their entertainment. Francois-Poncet was accepted into an Indian tribe and became a chief.

The Six Nations Indians reproduced an Indian village and performed their tribal dances. After the rodeo events, prime beef was served from a barbecue pit. The frontier show was held at Mart Kenny's ranch, just outside of Toronto.

All entertainment provided for the delegates, at no cost to Red Cross, has been distinctly Canadian in flavor. They have been invited in small groups to Canadian homes, have attended big gatherings at the yacht club and at the estate of Hon. Ray Lawson and Mrs. Lawson at Oakville where a typical Canadian garden party was held.

They have seen Hart house and a demonstration of Canadian methods of teaching swimming and water safety in a Canadian pool. Delegates attending a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fraser tasted a 24-pound salmon which was caught by Mr. Fraser.

Although the business sessions have been strenuous, delegates have found time for shopping and the things they are buying again reflect their interest in Canada. An Indian delegate is stocking up on cowboy T-shirts, chaps and guns, junior-size for his grandchildren. Many of the delegates are investigating Canadian furs and English people are seeing things in the shops manufactured in their own country but not available at home.

Scriptural Medications

By AINSLEY BLAIR

"On the mount, Jesus was closely watched by spies; and as He unfolded the principles of righteousness, the Pharisees caused it to be whispered about that His teaching was in opposition to the precepts that God had given from Sinai. The Saviour said nothing to unsettle faith in the religion and institutions that had been given through Moses; for every ray of divine light that Israel's great leader communicated to his people was received from Christ. While many are saying in their hearts that He has come to do away with the law, Jesus in unmistakable language reveals His attitude toward the divine statutes. 'Think not,' He said, 'that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets.'"

Blackleg of Potato—A Present Danger

The potato crop is generally susceptible to more diseases than any other crop grown in Alberta. One of these diseases which appears on most potato fields is Blackleg. The very moist conditions of the past several weeks in most areas of the province has been favorable to the development of this disease. The result, says Mr. W. Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection for the Alberta Department of Agriculture, is that Blackleg is appearing in many commercial potato fields. Traces of this disease may even be found in seed fields.

Blackleg may show up early in July and continue to make its appearance until late in August. Diseased plants are easily recognized by their somewhat stunted appearance and by the pale green or yellow foliage. The upper leaves usually become dwarfed, stiff, and erect, while the margins of the leaflets are rolled up. Closer examination reveals a soft rot developed at the base of the stems. The rot at first has a greenish water-soaked appearance but later turns quite black. The tubers develop a soft rot at the stem ends. Such tubers may rot in the field, or in storage if conditions are favorable.

Seed plots, and other potato fields which are held for seed, should be thoroughly rogued of all diseased plants at once. The tubers as well as the tops should be removed from the field and destroyed. All roguing should be continued from now till fall in order to remove all affected plants which may appear as the season progresses. In this way, if good seed was used in the spring, the plots should be relatively free of blackleg. A little effort now will go a long way in increased quantity and quality of potatoes next year.

Survives 40-Foot Drop

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Bobby Wayne Savage, 2, playing with his brother and sister near the window of their fifth-storey hotel room, leaned from the window to watch workmen. Losing his balance, he plunged to the hotel lobby roof. He struck an air vent pipe on the way down, thereby breaking his fall and probably saving his life. He suffered only a small scratch.

EDMONTON DISTRICT ENTRIES WINNERS IN GRAIN CLASSES

EDMONTON — During the 1952 Edmonton Exhibition, many entries were registered in the classes pertaining to the Agricultural section, and many of the entrants were of the Edmonton district.

In the next issue of the Sun, a list of the winners in the agricultural and horticultural sections will be published.

The winners of class 1999, spring wheat, Saunders or Thatcher for one peck of the 1951 crop, were Ben Berry, Coronado; William Colmann, Coronado; and Nick Ozipka of Legal.

In the oats class the first four winners were John T. Eliuk, of Hairy Hill; Ben Berry, Wm. Colman, both of Coronado; and Nick Ozipka, of Legal.

These same four men won in the same order in the barley class and in flax, Nick Ozipka was first with Ben Berry and Wm. Colman in second and third places.

Forage seed in class 2003, with brome grass was won by R. Goodal and runners up were R. A. Neal, L. Luntzens and T. Allard, all of Edmonton, and in fifth place was Wm. Colman of Coronado.

Two entries in the next class, Timothy seed, were Wm. Colman and Ben Berry.

For Red Clover seed the first five winners were Henry Larenson, A. B. Pierce, F. A. Little, Frank Kaveibe and Louis Heeken, all of Edmonton.

The only entry for Alsike Clover was Ben Berry of Coronado.

Sven winners in the Sweet Clover seed were from the Alberta Seed Growers Co-op. They were Mike Bylus, George Esselink, E. A. Levens, Mike P. Zarawny, W. R. Flack, Alonzo Bousher and Peter Iverson; and in the Alfalfa seed the winners were Ed Rushfeldt, J. C. Taylor, A. B. Pierce, Robert Diesel, N. V. Hatch, and Ed Dots-laf, all of the Co-op.

Nick Ozipka, Wm. Colman, and Ben Berry were again successful in the Creeping Red Fescue class.

There were eight classes of sheaves in forage plants, namely White Sweet Clover, Yellow Sweet Clover, Red Clover, Alsike Clover, Brome Grass, Crested Wheat Grass, Alfalfa and Timothy.

In White Clover the winners were Ben Berry Wm. Colman and N. S. Ozipka. They were winners again in the Yellow Clover in slightly different order as Wm. Colman came first with Ben Berry and Mr. Ozipka second and third. For the Red Clover they were in the same order as for the White Clover. In Alsike and Brome they were successful in this order, Ozipka, Berry, Colman and Colman, Ozipka and Berry.

For Crested Wheat Grass, Mr. Ozipka gained a fourth prize, and Benny, Ozipka, Colman and A. Klann of Legal, in that order for Alfalfa.

The Timothy sheaf was taken by Ozipka and Colman.

For cereal plant sheaves of Spring Wheat Ozipka, Berry and Colman.

Colman, Berry, Klann and Ozipka took the awards for the barley sheaf. In the oats the trio of Colman, Berry and Ozipka again took the prizes.

The special by the Canada Malt-ing Co., Calgary, for the best sample of Montcalm or Olli Bar-ley suitable for malting purposes, the same three men were again the winners in the following order, Berry, Colman, Ozipka.

The Juniors came in for their share of glory in class 2042, Junior Crop Club Class of hard, red spring wheat. The winners were Violet Mohr of Fort Saskatchewan, Shirley Thomas also of the Fort, Walter Gamble and Howard Singer, both of Spruce Grove.

Norman Jerpersion of Stony Plain took second for a peck of barley.

First prize went to Mrs. Mabel E. J. Campbell for the best collection of farm produce.

For the best Junior Farm Club exhibit presenting some important major agricultural theme with respect to good farming practice within the club's district; balanced farming, soil and water conservation, permanency and profit on a balanced livestock farm, planning your farmstead, make your garden work for you, or any other thematic display representing important farming or home-making practices, was won by Audrey Zeigler of Winterburn. Runners up in their order were Margaret Carless, Beach Corner; Martha Schmidt, R.R.1, South Edmonton; Alex Bell, Ardrossan; Allan A. Shenfield, Spruce Grove; Eric Mirus, Busby; and in seventh place was a tie between Arno Ginter of R.R.1, Fort Saskatchewan and Gibbons Hop along Hoe Garden Club of Gibbons.

Expect Shortage Of Farm Labor With Heavy 1952 Field Crops

EDMONTON — Field crops commissioner A. M. Wilson said last week that the problem of getting farm labor to help with Alberta's expected bumper harvest this fall likely will be more serious than last year.

Main cause of worry is that big crops are coming ahead uniformly in all parts of the province. Mr. Wilson said he feared this uniform harvest would add to the difficulty of moving farm workers from one farm to another.

The commissioner said, however, that the harvest outlook is not without its bright spots. The size of the 1952 crop should assure record financial returns to farmers. The crop, while heavier than last year, is not "lodged" as it was in 1951, making it easier to handle.

Mr. Wilson, reporting that indications point to "very limited" storage space for the Alberta grain crop, said farmers now are preparing to use every available granary, barn and hog house.

He said they are preparing to use "even empty bedrooms".

HARVEST HELP MOVING WEST

OTTAWA—The big annual move of eastern farm workers to help western farmers harvest their enemy, Russia, crops has started, the Labor Department said.

About 2,500 workers will be needed and recruiting is under way in Ontario and Quebec. Only experienced farm men will be used.

The recruiting job is carried out under agreement among the railways, the Federal Government and the governments of the three prairie provinces.

Those who volunteer get a low excursion rate of $15 for travelling west by train and $11.50 for the return trip.

The department said the bulk of the western movement will take place in the latter part of this month and early in September. No worker will be taken from an eastern area where farm labor is scarce.

The United States would do well to get the Japanese thoroughly armed, so that they might one day take care of their traditional western farmers harvest their enemy, Russia.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,
I have been going steady with a man for five years. His mother was an invalid and he had to support her and we could not get married. She died several months ago but he has not mentioned marriage since altho' he still comes to see me just as always and seems very fond of me.

I am embarrassed because I thought he was as eager for us to be together as I was. What would you do if you were me?
Engaged—Wis.

Answer:
Be frank and find out exactly what his intentions are. It may be that he thinks he should wait a while in case you want a big wedding so soon after his mother's death but if you are planning a quiet wedding there is certainly no reason to put it off any longer, having already waited for five years.

It is just possible that your young man doesn't want to take on the responsibility of supporting a wife and if that is the case, the sooner you find out the better. There is certainly no use in wasting the best years of your life entertaining a man who has no idea of marrying you.

LOUISA

Dear Louisa,
I am a school teacher and the year I finished college, I came back to my home town and got a job. I seem to have got into a rut for never have a date anymore. I have been here five years and I wonder now if I made a mistake in coming back to my home town to teach rather than going to a new place. Would you advise me to apply for another position.

Alice B.—Tenn.

Answer:
I certainly should go to another place to teach. Girls from "off" are always so much more attractive to the home town boys than the ones they have known all of their lives.

And, as you say, you seem to have got into a rut and the only way to get out is to go another place where you will meet new people and have new experiences.

Good luck.

LOUISA

WHAT'S IN THE NAME

PINCHER CREEK

Pincher Creek, a name of town and a creek in southern Alberta, tells the story of a conflict between Indians and pioneer prospectors. In 1886 several prospectors left the foothills and were never seen again. Search parties found their horses in an Indian camp, and a pair of pinchers, which belonged to one of the missing men, in the nearby stream.

The town of Pincher Creek is located 62 miles west from Lethbridge.

WARSPITE

The hamlet of Warspite, some 6½ miles west of Smoky Lake, is situated in a mixed farming region. The population of the hamlet is 180 people.

The first name of the hamlet was Francis, named so after the daughter of Ralph Burns, on whose homestead the hamlet was built. In 1920 the name was changed to Warspite after the British cruiser that fought so gallantly in the battle of Jutland in the first great war.

Warspite is comprised of five general stores; two hardware stores; one confectionery and drugs; one butcher shop; one hotel; one garage and service station; post office; a pool hall; four grain elevators; two churches—R.C. and United; a community hall; feed mill; electrical appliance shop; Imperial, B.A. and Co-op oils.

Some years ago when my boys were small, they thought it a great joke to rap on the kitchen door and have me come and open it to see who was there. One Saturday morning when I was extra busy, they came to the door at two different times and laughed heartily when I opened it to find them standing there. I scolded them and told them not to bother me anymore. In a short time I heard another rap and I shouted, "if you don't get away from that door I'll sure fix you." All being quiet I peeked out of the window and to my great embarrassment saw a lady climbing into her car and getting out of the yard in a hurry. I found out later she had been out trying to get orders for binder twine for her husband who was an agent in town. L.M.R. Bluesky, Alta.

For quite a time I had been wanting a good cap gun. One day I saw a nice one in a store. I ran to my mother and asked her if I could buy it. She turned around, and it was only then that I realized it wasn't my mother. She said, "I'm not your mummy."

Social Credit Win In B.C. Said Prelude To Drive On Ottawa

The story behind the Social Credit party's capture of the British Columbia legislature is told by B.C. writer Mac Reynolds in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Reynolds calls the election, held in late spring, "a political phenomenon unequalled in Canadian history."

Much of the credit, he says, goes to a "short middle aged man with a loud tie, a mouth creased down at the corners and a permanent five o'clock shadow"—the Rev. Earnest George Hansell, national president of the Social Credit Association of Canada.

Old line parties, says the Maclean's article, dismissed Hansell as "a Bible thumper from the prairies, a funny money man, a fanatic, a flaming evangelist, an anti-Semitic and a Fascist."

But despite the fact that the party went to the polls without a leader it "nosed out the CCF and administered the worst drubbing in provincial history to the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives."

"Hansell," says Reynolds, "sewed up the B.C. hinterland with a twisted thread of religion and red-hot electioneering." He often litchhiked from one speaking engagement to the next. But he sold his listeners—many of them dissatisfied with the current government—on Social Credit.

Reynolds sees a determined drive for Social Credit leadership in the federal field. The victory in B.C. is to Hansell, "missionary work... a skirmish." "Sooner or later," writes Reynolds, "There will be another political vacuum to fill."

LARGEST LINER: The Empress of Scotland, 26,300-ton flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet is shown here passing under the Jacques Cartier bridge at the entrance to Montreal harbor to make history as the largest vessel ever to arrive in the world's largest inland port. The big luxury liner and cruise ship, which had to have her masts shortened by almost 45 feet to clear under the bridges and power lines on the way up-river from Quebec, will make Montreal her Canadian terminal for the remainder of the 1952 St. Lawrence navigation season. The 666-foot long vessel carries 663 passengers, and will make one trip every three weeks between Liverpool, England; Greenock, Scotland, and Montreal. The inset shows Capt. C. E. Duggan (in uniform), master of the largest and fastest vessel on the St. Lawrence route, being welcomed to Montreal by Capt. J. P. Dufour, (second from right) Montreal harbor master, while looking on are A. C. MacDonald (left), managing director of CPS, and Andre Gauthier, river pilot, who was aboard the vessel for the 139-mile run up river from Quebec.

Fish Stories "CATCH OF THE SEASON"

By M. C. Forgey

Fall is in the air. Lakesides are crowded with fishermen. They are having some success too, if we can judge from the "tales" we hear.

Housewives, are you making the most of the opportunity to add flavor contrast to your meals through the use of fish? "Out of the lake—into the frying pan," that is the slogan of the expert fishermen. It is a good one, too. The flavor is best, and the fish is most tender when it is fresh.

Is it as simple as it sounds? Not quite!! First, of course, it has to be cleaned. After cleaning the fish, wash quickly in cold water and pat dry. Never allow fish to soak because flavorful juices are lost.

Too often fish is not served, especially to dinner guests, because the bones are objectionable. Why not remove the bones? Here is how it is done. Insert a sharp knife at the tail above and to one side of the backbone. Loosen one side by drawing the knife the entire length of the fish above the rib bones. Turn the fish over and repeat the same process on the other side. Now you are ready to transform the raw fish into an appetizing dish.

Pan frying is one good method of cooking fish, especially in the out of doors. First, brown the fat before you place the fish in the pan. This helps to prevent the "fish odor." Next, place the fish in the pan with the skin side next to the source of heat. Be careful not to over cook. Fish is a tender protein food with less connective tissue than is found in animal flesh, so it requires less cooking. Do as the professional chefs recommend. They consider fish to be cooked when the oozing protein is no longer colorless but has changed to a cream color. Each flake should pull apart easily and the fish should be moist and flavorful.

There are so many other ways to render fish mouth watering. Have you tried baked stuffed fish? A three to four pound fish is just the right size. It looks attractive, too, when served whole and garnished with lemon slices, tomato wedges or sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Of course, if the catch has been a "whopper," why not freeze some for use later on. Wrap the fish in moisture proof paper, or place it in a tightly covered dish and store it in the coldest part of the refrigerator. To prepare fish, that has been frozen, do not thaw but place directly in the pan, and cook. Thawing fish allows some of the juices and delicate flavor to be lost.

Your family will "ask for more" if you serve fresh fish. To add variety and zest to the main course, why not make the most of "the catch of the season?"
